PACKAGING FOR POSTERITY

What happens to that stunningly beautiful gown after the big event and how do you store delicate heirlooms for future generations?

Newlove & Eggleton is a professional cleaning, treatment and packaging service using traditional methods to ensure your precious items are safe and easily accessed for many years to come.

These techniques have been developed in collaboration with conservators and cleaning specialists.

We advise people to contact us prior to the event or soon after the occasion so as we can begin to care for the garment immediately.

What a perfect wedding gift!

Remember christening gowns, inherited vintage gowns or the like.

The garment is returned in an archival, museum quality costume box with a checklist to help you select the best possible place for the safe keeping of your packaged goods.

Call or email for further information.
